ROSEMARY HOUSE WARMING

Beautiful New Library Will Be Thrown Open Next Wednesday Evening-Announcements.

Rhyme of Ye Fiddle Strings.

All in the dusty corridors
Assigned to Father Time,
There are echoes still awaiting
To be caught in prose and rhyme.
There is one that comes a stealing.
Through the quiet nights of June,
Tis the thumping and the twanging
Of an old familiar tune.
My heart doth stop to listen—
It seems to hear and feel—
The scraping of the fiddles
In the old "Virginia Reel."
II.

In the old "Virginia Reel."

All the fine historic relies
From the old hall disappear
And warn Mount Vernon Regents
To keep away this year.

Tis a human habitation
With its portals opened wide
To the old-time friends and neighbors
From the hills and country-side.
They coe not to gaze at relies
But to shake the lightsome heel,
In Washington's great banquet hall
To the old "Virginia Reel."

III,
There's Mistress Sally Fairfax
In a gown of old brocade,
Going lightly down the centre
in a swinging promenade,
And pretty Nellie Custis,
Courtesying in the dance
To the Marquis Le Fayette,
From the grand court life in France,
And there is charming Bettie Cary,
To whom the beaux all kneel;
They have met once more together
In the old "Virginia Reel."

Ah! there is Mistress Kitty Duer
From Manhattan's famous town,
With patch and powder, silken hose
And shimmering satin gown;
And Annle Aylett's stately form;
To her cavaller bends low,
"Twas thus Mount Vernon's Regents met
A hundred years ago,
Patch and powder, silken gowns,
Swords of burnished steel
Have met once more together
In the old "Virginia Reel."

Have met once more together In the old "Virginia Reel."

Have met once more together.

In the old "Virginia Reel."
V.

Ah! the merry old time revelry
In which they did engage.
With youth and romance writing down
A line for History's page;
How stately aristocracy,
High head and smiling lips
Then gave to young Democracy
The grace of finger tips.
Although so long ago it was,
Yet through the years doth steal
The young Republic's graciousness,
In the old "Virginia Reel."
VI.
Now silence covers all things
And with the years combine,
In the hanquet hall of pleasure
Has History built a shrine.
No sound of fiddle-strings is heard
On fair Mount Vernon's crest,
For old Potomac guards the key
While the dancers take their rest.

The Richmond Young Women's Christian Temperance Union held its regular reception at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Wilson, No. 468 East Grace Street. On Tuesday, February 13th. A large crowd was present and a thoroughly enjoyable evening spent. The young ladies were attired in colonial style, with powdered hair, and were exceedingly pretty. A cherry tree was one of the leading contests, and the guests tried to cut it with red cardboard hatchets, exactly where "little George" whacked it. A colonial "word charade" on American flags was another very unique contest. Miss Ida Dilliard gave several recitations. Mr. Fred. Jones was soloist of the evening, and Miss Lyle King read a very fine paper on "The Social Side of the Union."

COLLEGE GOSSIP.

Class Meeting. On Wednesday the class of '66 of the Woman's College held a most enthusiastic meeting. The president of the class, Miss Evelyn Martin, of Stuart, Va., called the meeting. The president of the class, Miss Evelyn Martin, of Stuart, Va., called the meeting to order and announced that the time had come for the election of class-day officers for June. The following young ladles were chosen: Orator, Miss Bessie Wilson, Richmond, Va.; historian, Miss Ruth Bianton, Manchester, Va.; prophet, Miss Myra Ackiss, Norfolk, Va.; tree-orator, Miss Carrie Fitzpatrick, Nelson county, Va.; bonfire orator, Miss Jennie Chory, Berkeley, Va.; valedictorian, Miss Maude Puckett, Giles county, Va.; toast-mistress, Miss Uldine Valden, New Kent county, Va.

It is the custom of the class to plant a tree on class-day and to name it for some member of the faculty. Amid greatenthusiasm the class of '06 decided to call their tree the Martin tree in honor of Professor and Mrs. Melvin A. Martin, who are very popular and greatly beloved throughout the college.

season will serve the refreshments.

The entertainment is for the benefit of the Belle Bryan Day Nursery and for a lest-little child in Japan, whom the ladies of the circle are supporting.

The Hunt Ball.

The Peace Ball will not be shamed by the Hunt Ball, with which the twenty-second of the month will be signalized. Once again the scarlet coats of the gentlemen, the white silks, sating and laces of the ladies, will individualize the colors of the Deep Run Hunt, as contrasted with those worn by their guests representing other hunts.

The ball will open with the "Hunt Lancers," the figures of the dance having been described in last Sunday's issue of The Times-Dispatch, by request. The Lancers will be followed by the following dance programme, aranged by Professor Thillow with special care in selections:

16. Two-step, The Chase, Hunt Club.

Amongst the guests will be the masters of the various hunts throughout the United States. Every M. F. H. of a recognized hunt has been invited and their different colors of the various hunts will make the occasion brilliant and sorreous

Colonel Robert White, who arrived in Richmond Saturday and is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Chiles M. Ferrell, will give an address at the Woman's Club Monday evening at 8:20 o'clock.

The subject of the address will be "The Last Days of the Revolution," a particu-larly interesting theme for Washington's birthday week and one which will doubt-less attract a large and representative suddence. Jamestown Excursion.

The excursion committee of the Associa-tion For the Preservation of Virginia An-tiquities met yesterday at the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society and made the Virginia Historical Society and made all preliminary arrangements for the usual excursion to Jamestown in May. It is intended, if possible, to run the excursion on Saturday, May 11th. This is a matter which will be definitely settled in a day or two.

There is every evidence that this, the last excursion before the Tercentennial year, will be one of unusual interest. It is probable that by the month of May there will be a good deal of building going on at Jamestown.

The memorial houses to be erected by the Colonial Dames, the D. A. R. organization, and the $50,000 monument to be erected by the government may then be under way.
